

Best Western
Ruby's Inn
Rodeo Grounds
Old Bryce Town
Lake Minnie
Ruby's Campground

Bryce Canyon National Park

Bryce Canyon National Park
Is Open All Year

Hiking in Bryce Canyon

This map shows the major viewpoints and trails in Bryce Amphitheater. You can start hiking from any of the viewpoints.

Fairyland Point: Fairyland Loop Trail is 8 miles (13 km) round trip. It is strenuous and takes 4 to 5 hours. The Rim Trail goes 5.5 miles (8.8 km) to Bryce Point.

Sunrise Point: Queen's Garden is 1.5 miles long (2.5 km), takes less than 2 hours, and is the least strenuous trail below the rim. It climbs 320 feet (98 meters).

Sunset Point: Navajo Trail is 2.2 miles (3.5 km) round trip, takes less than 2 hours, and climbs 521 feet (159 meters). It is fairly strenuous. Navajo and Queen's Garden Trails, 3 miles (4.8 km), takes 2 to 3 hours and climbs 521 feet (159 meters). This is a moderately strenuous walk.

Tropic Trail: The Tropic Trail starts at the junction of Navajo and Queen's Garden Trails and Tropic Trail. This trail goes to the East Park boundary. It is 1.2 miles (2 km) downhill from the junction to the end.

Bryce Point: Peekaboo Loop Trail is a strenuous 5.5 miles (9 km), takes 3 to 4 hours, and climbs 827 feet (255 meters). Under-The-Rim Trail is a backcountry trail that ends at Rainbow Point. The trail is 22 miles (35 km) long. Ask at the visitor center for details.

Trails 0 _____ 1 Kilometer
Roads _____ 0 _____ 1 Mile

